

Soil Food Web Interactions & Benefits to Plant Production

The life of your soil is in your hands - Your complete guide to healthier & more productive soil

- 24th May - 4th June, 2010.
- 2 week course (+ 1 week reading to be done before commencement of course)
- Held at Southern Cross University, Lismore Campus, NSW.
- No pre-requisites
- Cost: $2640 (incl. GST), $1540 for full-time students (incl. GST).
Students, limit to first 20 registered, and proof of current enrolments required

Presented By

Dr Elaine Ingham

(World Renowned Soil Microbiologist)

Mr Graham Lancaster

(Director, Environmental Analysis Laboratory)

This course covers:

- functions of each group of soil organisms,
- soil organism interactions and how that affects
 - disease
 - nutrient retention
 - nutrient cycling
 - residue decomposition
 - soil structure
- understanding of soil/ plant chemistry
- management of soil biology/ chemistry
- microscope techniques (compost tea)
- scanning electron microscope demonstration (compost)
- two days in the field

Can you link this with a copy of the "Life of the soil is in your hands" flyer from SFI Aust website? I haven't got a copy. It is on this same page on the Aussi site.

 Click here for course flyer

Contact Soil Foodweb Institute on +612) 6622 5150, contact@soilfoodweb.com.au for more details.

These Documents are in PDF format.

Download the Free Adobe PDF reader if you need it.